LIBRARY NEWS

Our summer Reading Club came to an end July 31st with 37 members finishing to receive their award. Again the library gave a book entitled "Childhood of Famous Americans". We of the library staff have enjoyed these children and the interest they have shown, and hope next year to see these boys and girls reading again. Those receiving the book awards were: Larry Akers, Sandra Burns, Nancy Burns, Patricia Christian, Michelle Clough, Bryan Dykema, Rhea Duncan, Johnny Failing, Steven Funke, Mary Ann Gohr, Jeanne Hemphill, Billy Hatfield, Mary Kay Hunter, Margie Johnson, Debbie Johnson, Betty Kovacka, Jimmy Knibbe, Frans Kersch, Mary Ruth Lovely, Karen LaPeer, Debby May, Roger McEvers, Steven Neilson, Jane Pettengill, Peggy Palmer, Pamela Peterson, Stephen Evelyn Southwell, Christine Southwell, Jeanie Smock, Eric Schulze, Sherill Thayer, Julia Thayer, Janie Welsh all of Grayling, Patricia Hulbert of Frederic, Mary Moore of Albion, and Peter Peterson of Flint.

The Story-Hour was six weeks twice a week. There were 33 enrolled and an average of 25 each reading. Those attending showed good interest and seemed to have fun.

We have some new books. Among them is the "Kirkland's Warbler" by Herold Meyfield. We have many Bird-Watchers around Grayling. Several have asked for this book. Several other new books in July, among them the "Dove Tree" by Clark, "Wilderness of Denali" by Sheldon, "Wilderness of wonder" by Platt, "Mountains Ahead" (Oregon Trail will live forever in legends and romance) by Westman; "The last and the Just" by Schwarz-Bart; "Fate is the Hunter" by Gunn; "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" by Drury; "Winter of Our Discontent" by Steinbeck; One not quite as new but liked, "Hawaii" by Michener.

LOCAL LIBRARIAN TO ATTEND WORKSHOP

LANSING — A State Library workshop for some 70 librarians from 37 counties in Michigan will be held August 6 through 11 at Radis Institute in Big Rapids, according to Charles L. Higgins, acting state librarian.

The workshop is offered to persons working in public libraries throughout the state who must renew their certificates of library experience as required by the Michigan State Board of Libraries. Librarians must attend two workshops within a span of three years in order to obtain a certificate and then must renew it every three years.

The State Library has held two other workshops this summer, one for first-year students at the Michigan Education Association camp at Battle Creek and the other at Central Michigan university. An intensive program of instructional and practice periods are scheduled at the Ferris workshop with emphasis on policies and principles of book selection.

Make Part Of State Film On AuSable River

A film to be titled "The Michigan Story" is being made for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company of Detroit by the Jam Handy Organization of Detroit. Representatives of the latter organization were in Grayling last week, based at the Baker Triangle Motel, shooting scenes in Crawford County to be incorporated in the film.

Norman Kenyon, representative of the gas company, gave an outline of the film's story to the Avalanche just prior to the end of last Thursday, and expressed appreciation of the assistance given by Bernard Fowler, county guide and resort owner.

Briefly, the film tells of the many times that Michigan has come back from the accusation of being "left washed up," starting with the fabulous fur trade which eventually dwindled to a mere trickle of its once enormous size, causing people to say that Michigan was through as a place for opportunity. Then came the lumbering industry supplying the nation's needs and it too was abused so that the great forests were looted and gone, and "the state was all washed up." Iron ore to fill the nation's need for steel, and copper, were found in the upper peninsula, bringing business back to Michigan a third time after that came the auto industry, bringing prosperity still another time.

Indiana Division Review To Be Held This Saturday Morning

The 38th Infantry Division, Indiana National Guard has been assigned 692 reserve officers and enlisted men from Indiana and Michigan to train with the Division during its two weeks annual field training encampment at Camp Grayling, Michigan.

General Wendell C. Philippi, commanding general of the 38th Division personally welcomed the reservists. He called their assignment to the 38th a great help to the division's training program.

"These trainees come to us with many valuable civilian and military skills, and this integration of reserve and guard personnel is a shining example of the One Army concept," he said.

The One Army concept calls for Guardsmen, Reservists and regular Army personnel to work in close harmony toward a united defense effort.

General Philippi said National Guard divisions have a two fold mission, that of being a combat unit ready to serve in time of war or national emergency and secondly to render assistance to the state.

In his talk, Philippi said Indiana's Guard division is rated one of the best in the nation and emphasized that its mission is to be ready.

Many of the assigned officers will act as training officers while others will be assigned to duties according to their job specialties such as finance, ordinance and signal.

The Indiana Guard has been authorized by 5th Army to explode three simulated atomic devices during their training. They expect to use all three which will throw a mushroom-atomic type cloud 200 to 300 feet in the air.

This coming Saturday at 11:30 a. m. the annual Division Review will be held at which the public is invited. Reviewing the troops will be Indiana Governor Matthew Welsh and high guard officers. A reception for the Governor will be held following the Review at the Officers Club.

On Thursday, August 3, Lt. General Paul L. Freeman, Deputy Army Commander will present Gen. Philippi with an official U. S. Army flag at a review slated for 5 p. m. Brig. General Howard S. Wilcox will be in command of the troops and the review is of the armored units and will be held at the Camp Grayling Review Field.

Monday Fire Damages Shaw's Park Cottage

The Grayling Fire Department was called to put out a fire in one of the cottages at Camp Whippoorwill, on the Shaw's Park road, at 12:30 Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Bert Confer discovered the fire while working in the Bromley cottage some distance away from the fire. She saw smoke coming from the building and turned in the alarm then called her husband and Bert Jr. and they gathered up shovels and a hose to see what they could do.

The building was located up and the handle from the outside and had been removed to prevent tampering by strangers, so that they were unable to do much about extinguishing the fire, which was a smoldering type causing a great deal of smoke in the building interior. They rescued everything from the cottage porch. The fire apparently started high up in the wall in back of the stove, but it is not known how the fire started.

Mrs. Neil Anderson, guests of the Bromley family who own Whippoorwill, had left the cottage earlier in the morning after a vacation there.

Inside of the building is pretty badly burned, and water damage to the furnishings is severe, but no accurate estimate of damage had been made as yet.

Letter On AuSable Shames Vacationers

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following editorial appeared in the July 18 issue of the Saginaw News. It is repeated here with the News permission.

Ice cold springs bubbling and flowing from an abundant underground water table combine by the hundreds to give birth with awesome suddenness to Michigan's renowned AuSable River. This swift stream, coursing 50 twisting miles from Grayling to Oscoda, is flanked by a rustic paradise of wilderness shelter for wildlife. Its numbing waters leap with firm-fleshed brook, brown and rainbow trout.

Wild songbirds, deer and muskrat share its protective bounty. The now-rare but always majestic bald eagle glides silently up and down the river's turning course from some well-concealed nest.

Then there is man. He is the prime concern of this commentary—because man either will preserve and improve and protect Michigan's natural beauty, or he will destroy it with the stream disposal of civilization's contaminating waste.

Litter—thoughtlessly, willfully or ignorantly "ditched" into this priceless stream—is an affront to the artisan.

Against the stony bottom of the clear river's bed lie beer and juice cans discarded by pleasure-seekers with no apparent appreciation of a heritage guarded by law—for their continuing enjoyment and profit as for others.

Probably the canoe riders comprise most of the offenders. By hundreds they ride the AuSable, some to sh but many more simply to enjoy a day's drifting down a stretch of the scenic water. You'll see fathers and sons, whole families, young couples, or groups of avid blades in a flotilla of derring-do.

You will see, too, the silent fly-fisherman in his AuSable river boat, a craft distinctively designed for those adroving waters.

Canoeing is a fine sport and the people of Michigan serve to see and enjoy some of the wilderness beauty in vacationland boasts. But good manners go with privilege, and need be emphasized and broadcast for a sheer protection and preservation of what we have.

Property owners along stretches of the AuSable have formed associations dedicated to that protection. Not only do they promote education and policing for the tightening of violators—they use their own funds to finance clean-up of litter dropped by thoughtless casual visitors who have developed no affectionate regard for this true sportsman's paradise.

If there are some (and it is always the minority) who could not be less impressed by appeals to pride and a decent respect for public and private property, the arm of the law will be there to reach them with the watchful and swift cooperation of good citizens whose eyes and ears focus and tune to sight and sound on the river. Stiff fines are being meted out these days to flagrant violators who dump litter and rip Conservation Department directives to fishermen from their river-bank postings. When appeals fail, fines of $50 to $100 for littering or destruction of public property make a lasting impression.

What is true of the AuSable is true of all other public streams, lakes, camp sites and parks. Recreation-minded Michigan has a tremendous investment in its great natural resources. The appeal, first, is to good manners as a simple gauge of respect for property and regard for other people. That failing, the appeal must be for uniformly stern penalties, swiftly administered and widely publicized.

Michigan has too much of a stake in its outdoors to tolerate its defacement by a minority whose damage far exceeds its offending numbers.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

August 4, 1928

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewitt, the former a member of Grayling Post 106 and the latter a member of the Auxiliary, who are leaving Grayling soon to reside in Cadillac, were honored with a farewell party at the Legion Hall Saturday night. Mr. Hewitt has long been affiliated with Grayling Post, holding many offices in the organization and capably filling them. Mrs. Hewitt likewise has been an active member of the Auxiliary. Showing their appreciation the members of the Auxiliary arranged the party and some 30 responded to the invitation. For entertainment the merry crowd enjoyed round and square dances and this filled the bill of entertainment to perfection. One long table in the dining room was set for the crowd at lunch time and was attractive with two black bowls filled with vari-colored garden blooms and guarded by green tapers. A delicious lunch was served following which Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt were presented with a gift. Wilfred Laurant making the presentation speech in which he lauded Comrade Hewitt for his record as a member and office holder, he capably taking care of anything set before him. Mrs. Adolph Peterson in behalf of the Auxiliary.

The economic value of the railroads to Crawford County is featured in a poster prepared by the Michigan Railroad Employees and Citizens League and currently being exhibited in all railroad stations in this county and in the state. The poster emphasizes the railroads' importance on the basis of employees, payrolls, mileage and taxes in each county. In this county are 21 rail employees earning $29,838.41 yearly. There are 29 miles of track and $4,697.47 of the state's railroad taxes come into this county in the form of primary money for school purposes. Michigan's railroads are among the state's three ranking industries and its greatest single taxpayer, Floyd E. Drake, executive secretary of the League and author of the poster, says in discussing it.

Of interest to hosts of friends will be the announcement of the marriage of Miss Ruth McNeven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McNeven, to Mr. Stuart Jones of Lansing. The ceremony was solemnized in Alden, Ind., Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. Jones arrived in Grayling Sunday for a two weeks honeymoon and to visit the bride's parents. ### Can She Wait For Her Man To 'Change'?

THE WEEKLY LETTER: "I am nineteen years old. My boyfriend likes other girls. I see him very seldom. He thinks it is all right for him to be with other girls, but I can't be with other boys, or even talk to them. If I do, I'll see him coming. What can a woman do when she has a no-good man?
Should she love him, stick with him, and pray someday he will change? Do you think he should be this way? I have seen him with other girls and have my first time to go near where they were. Some boys I know from another town came by. They don't mean a thing to me, but he thinks differently.

He raised plenty of noise about them. Was it necessary? I love him very much."
OUR REPLY: A girl takes a chance when she continues to go with a "no-good" man in the hope that he will change. She wants him to change so much that she really believes he will. It's a mighty big gamble. If he is full-grown, he's old enough to know what he is doing—and not likely to do much changing as long as he can have his way in everything.

Some foolish girls spend their lives waiting for a man to "change". Some marry a man with the idea that he will immediately turn into a model husband.
The chort walk down the aisle gives a man new responsibilities and obligations—it's true. Yet, the more fact that he made the walk is no guarantee that he will recognize or accept these responsibilities and obligations.
The only way to handle a problem of this nature is to meet it head-on. The time to solve it is immediately. Waiting around will accomplish nothing.
The time for a man to change is before he is married. And, if he is truly in love with a girl, and wants to marry her, he should have no interest in seeing others.
The girl who marries a man thinking she can change him is starting married life with two strikes against her. She is much wiser if she realizes that she cannot change him at all—he must change himself. The time for this change is before marriage.

My Sincere Thanks

I take this opportunity of thanking the voters of Crawford County for their support of my candidacy for delegate to the Constitutional Convention. During the campaign, I have made many new friends in the district.

After considering everything carefully, I have decided that I will be a candidate for State Senator from the 20th District next year. Your continued friendship and support at that time will be appreciated.

GEORGE W. MYLES

BITS O' TALK

Weekend guests of Mrs. S. L. Ballard were Mrs. Kathleen Plumb and Mrs. Phyllis Husted, of Bay City. Saturday night Mrs. Ballard and her guests attended the Van Cleeve piano concert at Interlochen. Mrs. Samuel Cooper, Jr., accompanied the ladies back to Bay City when they left. She had been Mrs. Ballard's guest for the past month.

Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Blaha entertained a number of friends at a farewell dinner party for the Stanley Sink family Saturday, July 22nd, at Camp Shoppengon. The Sinks are moving to Cadillac this month.

Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Blaha and sons George and David returned home last Thursday from a four-day vacation trip to Cleveland and back through Ohio, stopping to visit relatives enroute. George Blaha had as his guest for a week recently Jon Crim of Chicago, a class mate at Campion school. See the Pyrofax Gas advertisement on page two of this issue. Post Oil Co., Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Halford Kittelman stopped in Sunday a week ago to visit the Herbert Wolf family, enroute to quarters at Gaylord, from where they spent last week visiting their daughter Mrs. Robert Carr at Wallon Lake. They returned home to Chicago Sunday after visiting the Wolfs for a day or two on their way home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank Drs. Henig and Blaha, the nurses and Mercy Hospital staff for their kindness and wonderful care during my stay.

Henry and Judy Schultz

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank Grayling Chapter O.E.S., Frederic Woman's Club, Hobby Club and friends, for the lovely dinner prepared and served at Frederic Community Hall Saturday.

Cards and visits from friends while our mother was at home were very much appreciated.

Special thanks to Mrs. Charles Madril who was with us at time of our Mother's illness and stayed with us awhile after she passed away. Her kindness is very much appreciated.

The families of

NOT long after the last shot had echoed, two Mississippians left the National Crow Shoot at Frankfort, Kentucky with a raft of trophies, proud holders of a double events record that crow-shooters will most likely aim at for some time to come.

Joe Duff and O. L. Green, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, established a new national record in this unusual competition by registering a total of 71 birds.

To the uninitiated, let it be said that crow shooting is not to be compared to shooting clay pigeons or sitting ducks. It is an art that takes plenty of skill and practice. The crow is known far and wide as a cagey old bird, and he's not easily fooled. His eyes are sharp, and so is his wits. He has a canny instinct for smelling trouble and, once he senses danger, has no hesitation about spreading the word for miles around.

In competition, crow shooters dress in an assortment of camouflage clothing and many of them blacken their faces or smear the visible parts of their body with green ink; all of this to help them blend into the scenery.

Concealment is but one factor. The shooter must still be able to call the crows to his hiding place. The crow is loud, but if he answers a "call" that doesn't sound just right, he'll come over a mile high, or set down in a tree some distance away and look the situation over carefully.

Duff and Green are two of the best crow callers in the country, and have proved it. Duff was named National Crow Calling Champion in 1939; Green earned the same title in the 1931 competition.

Each of 71 birds came during two hours of competition. The crows came to and fro every two minutes of calling.

Mrs. Russell Chapman of Coconut Grove, Fla., was an overnight guest of the George Griffiths Monday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Galehouse and sons Larry and Rodney of Big Rapids were Sunday visitors at the John Schofield home.

Dr. and Mrs. Lowell Green spent the weekend with his brother, Capt. Phil Green, at Vermontville, also visiting his mother, Mrs. Jessie A. Green, there.

Swimsuits, dresses and purses, 25% off, hats 1/2 price, now at The Pink Lady.

Miss Olga Nielsen returned home Sunday after spending a couple of weeks at Munson Hospital in Traverse City.

Miss Barbara Nelson and friend Glean Edward of Long Beach, Calif., left Tuesday after spending a month at her father's home in Grayling.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendrickson of Alpena, and son Al who is employed in Saginaw, visited the Claire Olin and Roy Smith families on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Peterson of Tulsa, Okla., left Monday after spending a week with his cousin, Hans Peterson. The Petersons are former residents, having gone west about 35 years ago. They last visited Grayling about ten years ago. Here to see them and visit their father were Kenneth Peterson and family of Flint, Richard and family of Jackson, and Mrs. Don Peterson of Gaylord and Phyllis Milks of Alpena. Miss Omah Swain of Flint and Miss Donna Dishaw of Bay City also spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Marwinski of 1315 Merrill St., Saginaw, were recent guests of the Herbert Schnettlers at their Shaw Park home. Mr. Marwinski came to Grayling originally in 1893, at the age of 17, and took a job as barber in the George Langevin barber shop. He stayed in the city until 1896. He had many tales to tell of the old town used to look, and that there were two newspapers at the time, the Avalanche when Oscar Palmer was the editor, and the Northern Democrat.

Visitors at the Marvin Miller home were their son Bernie and family over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Don Taylor and family, on Sunday. All are from Flint. Sunday before last, Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor and family of Davidson visited the Millers. The Millers' son David and family, who were residing in California, have been making their home in Flint since David's release from the armed services the middle of July.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foley, who has been living in Shaker Heights, Cleveland, for the past ten years, returned to Grayling to live this week. Currently she has been visiting her daughters in Detroit and Grosse Ile. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Baucher, who accompanied Mrs. Foley to her home at 604 Chestnut Street, returned to Grosse Ile Monday.

Mrs. Robert Welsh and daughters Janey and Amy have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Ruth M. Miller, and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Mailander at Muskegon, for the past three weeks. They were joined last week on Wednesday by Mr. Welsh.

who brought them home on Friday. Mrs. Miller has been recuperating from surgery on a severed tendon in one of her fingers. The Welsh daughters enjoyed a party for them and also for a Muskegon youngster who was moving away, given by Mrs. Mailander during their visit.

Carl Borchers and Arnold Stancil were in Traverse City Monday a week ago.

BABY SHOWER HELD

CUSTOM-BLENDED!

A custom blend of special unleaded gasoline and a new non-metallic detergent outboard oil - ready-mixed at the refinery in exact proportions.

IMPROVES ENGINE PERFORMANCE! Carburetors stay cleaner, spark plug fouling and exhaust port plugging are reduced. Motors perform much better, last longer, tests show.

Power-mower motors and other two cycle engines thrive on PowerMax too!
